

ISMPP Privacy Policy

Introduction

The International Society for Medical Publication Professionals (ISMPP) respects that privacy is important to you. The Information (as defined below) that we collect about you will be maintained and used in accordance with this privacy statement and applicable laws, rules and regulations. We may change this statement from time to time so we ask that you revisit this privacy statement to be sure that you are familiar with our current policies. In the event we make any changes to this privacy statement we will post these changes on this Web site, together with the date on which the most recent changes were made.

Collection of Information

ISMPP may collect personally identifiable information about you, such as name, address, telephone number, e-mail address, date of birth, or other similar information ("Information") when you voluntarily submit it to us or when you give permission to others to share such Information with us. The Information we collect may be used to send you details on services and programs that you may find useful, or to contact you. From time to time, we may also request that you provide us with additional demographic Information that we may use to serve you better. Any Information you provide to us is held on a secured web server operated by ISMPP (or by an agent of ISMPP performing services on our behalf). We will not transfer, sell, or rent Information to anyone other than external individuals and organizations working on our behalf without your permission.

Through our Web sites, ISMPP also collects nonpersonally identifiable information such as the total number of visits to our Web site, the number of visitors to each page of our Web site, the Internet Protocol (IP) addresses of our visitors, and the time spent on our sites. We use this information to understand how our visitors use our Web site so we can improve the customer experience. We may also use your IP address to help diagnose problems with our servers and for purposes of system administration. From time to time, we may also share nonpersonally identifiable information with others.

ISMPP reserves the right to share your Information in order to respond to authorized information requests of government authorities or where required by law.

Minors

We do not knowingly collect any personal information from anyone younger than the age of 13, nor do we knowingly market our Web sites to anyone younger than the age of 13.

Security

Please be advised that although we have tried to create a secure and reliable site for you, the confidentiality of any communication or material transmitted over the Internet cannot be guaranteed. We urge you to exercise caution when conveying personally identifiable information over the Internet. When disclosing any personally identifiable information, you should remain mindful that such information might be accessible by the public and, consequently, may be collected and used by others without your consent. You should also recognize that your use of the Internet and this site is solely at your own risk.

Links

As a convenience to you, ISMPP may provide links from this Web site to other Web sites maintained by independent third parties. This privacy statement applies solely to the information collected on this Web site. We are not responsible for the privacy practices of other sites. We encourage you to be aware when you leave this site and to read the privacy policies of any Web site that you may visit.

Contact Us

We welcome your questions and comments regarding this privacy statement and the use of your Information. If you have any questions about this privacy statement or about our use of Information, or if you would like to request any changes be made to your Information, please contact us at +1.914.945.0507.